EGYPTIANS STAGE MONSTER PROTEST PARADE—For more than three hours this two-mile-long procession marched through the streets of Cairo, Egypt. Carrying banners plastered with anti-British slogans and headed by the Biri-el-Nili (Daughters of the Nile) they were celebrating the "Independence Day" or "The Day of Struggle". The Egyptian government's plea to preserve calm was observed, but its intention to impress foreign observers was apparent by the inclusion in the procession of representatives from all walks of life. The 8,000 "Daughters of the Nile" were led by Doris Shaki, 29, a graduate of the Paris Sorbonne. She wants to win the light, dress them in black sweaters and form them into the Black Swastika Fighters against Britain. The poster, (right), shows "Miss Egypt" being wooed by "Stable Britain", with the four-power proposals around the neck.—Central Press Canadian.

OUTLINE PLANS FOR MIDDLE EAST COMMAND—Outlining the name of the "North Atlantic" pact even before that organization's structure is completed, the United States, Britain, France and Turkey have announced a plan for a new Middle East Command which overtops the sprawling Atlantic Pact organization. Immediate aims of the four-power announcement are to help the British stand in the vital Suez canal zone and gain Egyptian support in its defense of the oil-rich gateway between Europe and Asia. Greece is to belong to NATO's southern Europe wing, but Turkey is to belong to both organizations. Middle Eastern nations are to join the defence command as Egypt, Iraq, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Lebanon and Israel.—Central Press Canadian.

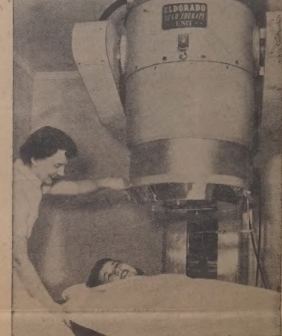

WELL DONE!—Hon. Lester B. Pearson, Canada's Minister for External Affairs, is congratulated by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, (centre), and U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, (right), after his speech to the United Nations General Assembly in the Palais de Chaillot in Paris.

RETURNS TO INDIA TO RUN FOR OFFICE—Madame Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, retiring Indian ambassador to the United States, and her daughter, Rita, are shown as they left New York to return to India. Madame Pandit will run for parliament in that country's first election under the new constitution.

NEW HAND AT U.N. CONTROLS—New president of the U.N. General Assembly, Madame Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, is shown as she left New York to return to India. Madame Pandit will run for parliament in that country's first election under the new constitution.

CHALK RIVER PRODUCES CANCER WEAPON—First of many cancer-fighting weapons to be made as a result of Canadian experiments at the Chalk River atomic energy research station. This machine was taken over to Victoria Hospital, London, Ont. The machine uses cobalt 60 as an atom "bomb" to bombard cancer cells in the mechanical arrangement shown here. Canadian and U.S. scientists were on hand to examine the machine.

HORSES, CATTLE HAVE THEIR DAY AT WINTER FAIR—Among the many splendid purbred farm animals being judged at Royal Winter Fair, now under way in Toronto, is this giant Percheron from McKeenport, Pa. Although he was inclined to strike up an acquaintance with his stablemate "Smoky", the Dalmatian remained quite aloof to much horseplay.

ALL SET TO BAIL OUT—Just in case she makes an involuntary "take off", Woman's Royal Air Force Corporal Joan Elliot wears parachute harness while piloting symbols to the 50-foot high in the Operations Room at air force headquarters at Northwood Middlesex. WRAF pilots wear the harness as a safety measure while plotting the course of convoys and aircraft during exercises.—Central Press Canadian.

SEARCHING FOR CURE IN VICTIM OF DISEASE—Victim of the disease he was fighting to stamp out, Earl W. Vessel, 26, a research worker, is seriously ill at a Pittsburgh hospital. Vessel was a member of the University of Pittsburgh research team working on a new "sleeping sickness" serum when stricken with encephalitis. Many U.N. soldiers fighting in Korea have been victims of the deadly virus infection.

"A WOMAN WAS CAUSE OF IT"—Arrested on charges of burglary and carrying a concealed weapon, Fred Douglas Nettles, 38, of South Barbers, Cal., claims "woman trouble" and says, "I never stole a thing in my life." Police charge his $150-a-month home was left with French rugs, fine furniture and lamps stolen from swank homes. He said "This woman I was in love with (known but unidentified by police) told me she had bought them from peddlers and as evidence." Dr. Nettles teaches a class in crime detection.—Central Press Canadian.

NOBEL PEACE PRIZE WINNERS MEET—Winner of the 1953 Nobel Peace Prize, Louis Jouhaux, (right), of France, is congratulated by Dr. Ralph Bunche as the two meet in Paris. Dr. Bunche, member of the U.N. General Assembly secretariat, was last year's winner of the award. Jouhaux, president of the French Peace Committee Trade Union, declares lasting peace can be achieved only when the despair of poverty is wiped out.

Shortest on the hoof is this rare white shorthorn from Truro, N.S. Most shorthorns are brown or roan but "Snowdrift the First" just grew up that way and may influence the judges with his white coat.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS OFF FOR GERMANY WAVE A FINAL GOODBYE TO CANADA—Bound for Germany, men of the First Canadian Battalion, 27th Brigade, wave the decks of the R.L. Farnham as she prepares to leave Quebec harbor. Besides members of the battalion, from five Canadian infantry regiments, there were hundreds of artillerymen on board the ship. The soldiers will join forces with Gen. Eisenhower in Europe.

JET FILONS GET FINAL CHECK—Before being shipped to a New York aircraft plant, a completed jet-plane piston is checked by an employee of a Massena, Ohio, factory. Looking much like miniature mechanical wing, they are used for carrying auxiliary fuel tanks, or varied armaments.
